EnviroGuard Expands Its Environment, Health and Safety Training Programs.

MONTCLAIR, CA. May 1, 2011 — EnviroGuard expands its Environmental, Health and Safety (EH&S) Training Programs to include Online E-learning, Instructor-led Webinars, and Onsite Training programs.

"The expansion of our existing training program illustrates our ongoing commitment to reduce cost by providing required courses. Our E-learning modules coupled with our abilities to host Instructor-led webinars and custom training opportunities, keep training costs at a minimum and help our customers stay in compliance with regulations and code enforcement. The expanded training program provides personnel access to 24/7 safety training, applicable to their industry, specific to their needs, when and where they need it." says EnviroGuard President, Doug Frazier.

EnviroGuard's EH&S courses are currently available for Battery Room, Hazardous Materials Handling, Electrical, Construction and more. The self-paced training modules feature engaging material with interactive tests that demonstrate key points to keep the learning process effective. Once the course is completed, the results are immediately captured and delivered, tracking which course was taken and scores achieved.
